While Russian Forces continue to exert pressure in the East, the Ukrainian attack in the South gradually progresses. As high-intensity combat continues, frontline adjustments are likely to remain fluid and unpredictable, but over the upcoming weeks, a fast advance from either side is improbable.

Russian military used missiles to attack hotels frequented by foreigners in Pokrovsk and Zaporizhzhia; long-range missile attacks and loitering munitions continued to affect targets around the nation.

A group of humanitarian workers was hurt on the front lines in Khersonska Oblast, and another NGO team narrowly escaped being shelled in Nikopol. A missile strike in Chernihiv resulted in the death of one NGO staff member and the injury of another. A local organization's head was imprisoned in Odesa on suspicion of corruption.

Current patterns and public pronouncements point to a rise in air attacks later this year. The humanitarian space is unlikely to grow in the near future as Ukrainian forces are anticipated to continue their limited advances in the South-East, South, and East.

The total number of refugees from Ukraine recorded globally is 6,203,300 of which 5,834,100 are recorded in Europe. The total border crossing from Ukraine since the beginning of the war is 23,613,225 while the border crossing to Ukraine is 16,785,880.<sup>1</sup>
